

And Then There Were None
Chapter 10-11 Questions

1. What is Phillip Lombard's justification for believing Justice Wargrave is the murderer?
2. Why does Vera Claythorne believe that Dr. Armstrong is the killer? What do you think about her reasoning?
3. How does Mr. Rogers guarantee there will be "no more Soldier tricks tonight"?
4. Whom does Miss Brent suspect of being "possessed by the devil", and therefore, has to be Mr. Owen?
5. In Part 4 of Chapter 10 we encounter Miss Brent at work on her diary. She seems to be nodding off while sitting at her window and writing in her notebook. "The pencil straggled drunkenly in her fingers," we read. "In shaking loose capitals she wrote: THE MURDERER'S NAME IS BEATRICE TAYLOR....Her eyes closed. Suddenly, with a start, she awoke." What do you make of this passage? What does it mean? Why would she jot down such a statement? Think about what you have learned of Miss Brent's background, mentality, spiritual outlook, and idea of right and wrong when answering these questions.
6. How do the guests protect themselves at night?
7. As Chapter 11 begins, what is different about the arrangement of the china figures in the dining room?
8. How has Mr. Rogers been killed?
9. Why is Miss Claythorne "crying out in a high shrill, shaken with bursts of laughter" asking about bees and honey?

10. How does Blore feel about Miss Brent? Does Lombard agree?

11. At the end of Chapter 11, everyone was being very polite and behaving normally. Does this make sense to you? Why or why not? How might you have been acting if you were still a guest in the island?

12. Each of the remaining characters continues to question the others. Of the six remaining who do you think is responsible for the death of the other 4?
